Stakeholder Management For The Public Sector

Secure your place

Government Exchange would like to invite you and your colleagues to attend upcoming TILM approved "virtual" open course on Stakeholder Management For The Public Sector which will take place on Thursday 8th of February 2024.

The 2021 Declaration on Government reform states that:

"we will operate more seamlessly with institutions outside government, building partnerships with the wider public sector, private sector and community organisations to secure the best outcomes for citizens"

Yet, many strategy and policy interventions fail at the implementation stage, frequently as a result of ineffective stakeholder management.

This one-day virtual workshop looks at the principles of effective stakeholder management and some approaches to ensure long term stakeholder buy in and engagement.

This highly participative programme uses a blend of information sharing, conversation, examination of case studies to explore the topic, and exercises based on delegates own issues, led by our highly experienced facilitator.

Learning Outcomes

- Understand best practice in stakeholder management and engagement
- Have practised applying this to their own stakeholder management issues and identified practical approaches to apply to their own work
- Understand how to evaluate the success of their stakeholder management initiatives

Course Feedback

I really enjoyed the training and the trainer paced everything so well - I usually have a hard job writing as many notes as possible and get left behind - thanks for going at a nice steady pace. I really liked the process of engaging in stakeholders and how to categorise them - something I've never done, I've just labelled them all as stakeholders and managed them the same way - so I will 100% take that away from the day and be more methodical in my approach to stakeholder management. Health Education England

As we quickly moved into the subject it became apparent that this is something that is a lot more important than I may have given it credit for previously. The course definitely gave me awareness of the use of stakeholder management, and I feel far more confident in developing the skills and deploying the techniques revealed during the course. UK Civil Aviation Authority

Trainer's delivery is excellent and the material is highly relevant and applicable to my role/organisation. Bryson Charitable Group

The programme covered topics relevant to my training needs and was delivered in easily digestible chunks. The trainer provided good examples of stakeholder engagement in practice. I've come away from the training with some ideas to incorporate into my own engagement. Professional Standards Agency
